National AMI Conference Netherlands.

During the AMI meeting in 2016 the Netherlands has offered to organize a “National AMI conference” as a pilot in order to see if such a structure will help to share the outcomes of that international meeting.

In april 2017 the “Dutch National AMI Conference” was held in Huis ter Heide. Amongst the participant, between 30 – 40 delegates, there were only a few military lay people, because in the Netherlands it is not easy to get in contact with them and it takes more time to address them.

Regarding the outcome of the international 2016 AMI meeting it would help if the results are laid down in a paper that is more understandable for lay people.

At the moment the National Conference was organized, it was not yet clear what the specific issues would be for the Rome meeting in September 2017. In order to be able to prepare those issues with lay people during a National Conference, it would be helpfull if the issues would be clear at an earlier moment. F.e., it would help if the issues for the meeting in 2018 would be clear at the end of the international meeting in September 2017. In that way national delegations, together with the members of a national conference, will be able to prepare an international meeting in a proper way.
